

To whom it may concern:

My name is Emily Cullen and I'm the lead teacher at Lutherwood's Section 23 school program.

We recently had the pleasure of inviting Aaron Caleb to speak to our staff and students about the importance of self-value, perseverance, and overcoming life's challenges. Our main reasons for inviting Aaron were to provide something that was new and uplifting for our school assembly, and to provide our students with an example of an adult role model who demonstrates resilience and character.

What I appreciated about Aaron was that he really connected well with our students and was able to keep them engaged throughout his whole presentation. He was able to utilize humor and honesty to share his experiences of difficult situations in a way that allowed our students to really hear his message. He managed student questions well and was open to talking with the youth about any of the issues that his presentation brought up for them. His message touched on topics that were timely for our youth and challenged them to make the most out of their situations and to see the best in themselves.

I would recommend Aaron Caleb as a speaker to any of my colleagues. His approach is very down-to-earth and he is easy for students to relate to and engage with.

Sincerely,

Emily Cullen, M.Ed, OCT
WRDSB, Section 23 (Lutherwood)
